said that due to better access the "time-to-decision" has decreased.

26% of survey respondents said that employee performance has improved because of anytime, anywhere access to information.

66% of survey respondents said that it is easier to manage policies with Office 365, and 37% reported lower costs because of best practices built into Office 365.

46% of the surveyed organizations said mobile access has created greater end-user productivity due to improved communications and knowledge sharing.

37% reported that their mobile users are affected less by PC crashes, because they can access all the material from their mobile device.

40% of respondents reported that corporate memory and knowledge have improved because information is no longer "lost" on local computers or various systems.

The staff time required to support the solution was reduced, for a total three-year risk-adjusted associated savings of $517,500.